

CRUISER TO HONOR FRENCH HOLIDAY

Tage, Flagship of the North Atlantic Squadron, Now in This Harbor, Prepares for Celebration To-Morrow.

LIKE OUR FOURTH OF JULY.

Local French Societies Will Entertain Officers of Visiting Warship and Jackies Will Be Allowed More than Usual Shore Leave.

The French colony of New York will have the cruiser Tage, flagship of the North Atlantic Squadron, and her guns and searchlights and bunting to aid in the celebration to-morrow of France's republican birthday, the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille. The fourteenth of July to the Frenchman is as the Fourth to the Yankee; no matter what land he may be in he never forgets the day.

In anticipation of to-morrow this was a busy day aboard the Tage. The jackies had their washing done early and sent up forward to dry. Most of the clothing consisted of white duck, for it is the order of Admiral Rivet that the 55 of the crew must appear at their best. There was a general "house-cleaning" of the Tage and she'll be shining as bright as a new pin when to-morrow dawns.

Many of the local French societies have arranged to entertain officers and men ashore, and in the evening the compliment will be returned by the sailors. It has been suggested that some of the American patriotic societies in New York show the jackies of La Belle France some attention in return for the courtesy and honor they paid the Fourth in dressing ship, saluting the Stars and Stripes and otherwise recognizing the day, and it is believed that some action will be taken along this line.

The exercises aboard the Tage will open with a salute to the tricolor, followed by all hands being mustered to attend chapel. There will be an extra allowance of something to drink during the day and certain observances of the occasion in the menus of the wardroom and mess decks.

The Tage will wear a most gorgeous array of bunting all day and at night if it is clear her searchlights will be brought into play as they were on the Fourth. As a further recognition of the day the liberty parties—the men who are given shore leave—will be larger than usual. It is the custom in many foreign ports to permit sailors of nations celebrating holidays to have a shade more leeway than usual, and it is believed that the police will be inclined to-morrow to overlook a little pranks of the jackies who come ashore from the Tage and who don't act just like Sunday-school boys.

ARCHBISHOP FARLEY PRESIDENT'S GUEST.

Roman Catholic Prelate's Presence at Sagamore Hill Thought to Concern the Philippines.

OSTER BAY, L. I., July 13.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained a large party at luncheon to-day at Sagamore Hill. In addition to Secretary Root and the house guests, the party included Archbishop Farley, John D. Crimmins, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. Rias, James R. Sheffield and Frederick W. Hollis, all of New York, and Judge Brentano and A. W. Cooley, recently appointed a Civil Service Commissioner. It was announced that the visit of Archbishop Farley was prompted by a desire to pay his respects to the President, but as he was accompanied by Mr. Crimmins, who is prominent in Catholic Church affairs, it is quite certain that matters in which both the Church and the Government are interested were discussed.

MOSES R. CROW IS ADJUDGED A LUNATIC.

Once Wealthy Promoter, Now Penniless and Mad, to Be Sent to Ward's Island.

Moses R. Crow, lawyer, promoter and the constructor of several important works in New York and other cities, has been declared insane by the physicians at Bellevue Hospital. Crow was taken to Bellevue on Friday from his home at Chatham, N. J. Papers were made out to-day for his transfer to the Manhattan State Hospital at Ward's Island, and he will be taken there this afternoon. His case is considered nearly hopeless by the physicians.

Mr. Crow is best known for his successful promotion of the New York and Westchester Water Company. He also built the electric light power plant at Dobbs Ferry. At one time he was considered wealthy and owned a mansion at particular attention and West End avenue. He entertained lavishly and paid steam yacht and on trains specially chartered. Recently he has met with reverses and has been practically penniless. He has been living at his father-in-law's residence at Chatham with his family.

THREE LOST IN WRECK.

Fishing Smack, Caught in a Gale, Went Down with Part of Crew.

PENSACOLA, Fla., July 12.—The fishing smack Amelia Lyons, of Mobile, was caught in a squall off this port to-day and foundered. Seaman MacVig and William Ward and the cook were drowned. Capt. Sullivan and three of the crew were rescued.

SHE SINGS CHANSONNETTES LIKE YVETTE GUILBERT

Miss Margaret Hubbard Ayer, who is to be one of the attractions at Keith's this week, made her New York debut last winter at Mrs. Osborn's Play House, where she scored an instant success by her rendition of French chansonnettes. No singer in New York since Yvette Guilbert has so cleverly and charmingly interpreted the elusive Gallic chanson.

Miss Ayer is a daughter of Harriet Hubbard Ayer. She is one of the few American girls whose singing has received unqualified praise from the best critics of Germany and France.

ICE FAMINE NOW CONFRONTS BRONX.

According to American Ice Company's Official There Is Not Enough to Meet the Next Hot-Spell Demand.

Although the ice famine in Harlem and the Bronx was not so pronounced to-day as it was Saturday and Sunday, small hopes are held out to the poorer people of that section for the coming heated periods of the summer. The superintendent of the American Ice Company's depot, at One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street and East River, stated to-day that the supply would be, he feared, entirely inadequate to the demand. He further said that persons who had contracted for a supply of ice would be served first, and that the poor families, who depend on small dealers, would have to take their chances.

"The ice crop last winter," he said, "was remarkably poor, and when the first spell of hot weather came we could not begin to meet the demand. We chartered fifteen extra boats at $100 a day each to bring us ice from Albany, and we kept an extra large force of men working night and day, but it did but little good. Our territory, which runs from Ninety-first street to the end of the Bronx, demands from 1,500 to 1,500 tons of ice daily, but we cannot supply that demand on extremely hot days."

"To-day we are all right, but the next hot day means suffering for the tenement-houses and the small homes unless some means is devised to remedy the existing condition of affairs. The real trouble is that this section of the city has grown rapidly, while our facilities have not been increased. It is all folly to say, as some people have said, that the ice famine is the result of a deliberate attempt on the part of the American Ice Co. to serve consumers direct, thus dispensing with the middleman's profits. If we had ice to sell the small dealers they would get all they wanted. As it is, we must serve our customers under contract to us first."

SHE USED LEATHER STRAPS ON CHILD

Mother Admits in Court that She Had Used a Heavy Pillow Beater to Punish Her Ten-Year-Old Daughter.

Mrs. Kate Wyber, of No. 223 West Nineteenth street, was arraigned before Magistrate Cornell in Jefferson Market Court to-day on the charge of cruelty to her ten-year-old daughter, Katherine. The instrument which Mrs. Wyber admitted she used in punishing the child, and which was produced in court, was a patent pillow-beater, a contrivance with a flat iron handle, to which were attached fifteen leather thongs, each a foot long and a quarter of an inch wide.

Magistrate Cornell expressed surprise that a mother could strike her child with such a thing.

Mrs. Wyber declared, and was corroborated by the police, that Katherine was an incorrigible child and that her case required severe punishment. She thought the child ought to be committed to some institution.

Magistrate Cornell warned the woman that such instruments of torture were not tolerated in this country. Then he sent Katherine over to the Children's Court, from which she will probably be sent to some reformatory institution.

WALSH STEPS INTO BRENNAN'S SHOES

Old Inspector Had Been in Active Police Service Since 1862 and Was Retired to Make Room for Younger Man.

Inspector John Brennan's retirement from the police force took place yesterday. To-day Inspector Richard Walsh was sworn in. Walsh was appointed before the resignation of Brennan had taken effect and while the Inspector was on his last vacation as a policeman.

Brennan, who was a Brooklynite, was retired under the system of Commissioner Greene that has for its object the removal of the older men in the higher ranks.

Brooklyn ever had. He was appointed to the police force in 1862 and soon after was made a roundman. Four years later he was made a sergeant. He was the man assigned to break in P. H. McLaughlin, former Chief of Brooklyn's Police and now an Inspector, the man designated by Devery as Plug Ugly.

In June it was intimated to Brennan that he had better retire, he was told he was getting older and that the position he occupied was one that should be held by a man younger and capable of enduring more physical hardship. He refused, but finally yielded and asked for a vacation of twenty days. His application for a vacation was held up until his application for a retirement was sent in, then he obtained his leave of absence.

The retirement of Brennan is taken to mean that the next head that falls will be that of McLaughlin, who is also getting along in years.
